Summarize your contributions this sprint: list your contributions for this sprint (needed for full credit)

At the beginning of this sprint, I came up with the idea to reach out to the paving company that was going to sponsor our project, but we did not use this company due to financial reasons. I also created the GitHub repository for our project and shared with the group members, professor, and TA. I also completed the users profile section of the requirements document due earlier this week. Last, I created the Discord server that our group has been using to do meetings and communicate about the project.

Comments/feedback – detailed, specific comments are needed here to earn full credit.

I do feel like I should have interacted with my group more, but my life has gained a lot more stress since my girlfriend and I had our baby son earlier this week. Between working, going to school, and preparing/caring for a newborn child I have not been as present as other members in my group, but I know I will learn to balance my schedule.
